Now cowboy stories should be entertaining
But this one here could use some explaining
Because it ain't about horses or buckaroos
But rather.... commuters and the highways they use

And these horseless carriages that clank and rattle
Have come a long long way from a commute in the saddle
And these carriages have changed the face of this land
And with it, comes a need to keep up with demand

So right here in Utah we're leading the way
This innovation is the envy of the whole U.S. of A
In fact around the globe as the news was unfurled
It captured the attention of the entire world

In the media and on television it's been thrown in the mixes
And will be featured on Nat Geos... "World's Toughest Fixes"
They'll show bridges installed with the greatest of ease
Proving the success of the SPMT's

And the boon to the economy was like a shot in the arm
Employing hundreds of workers on this bridge building farm
Now the project is finished and all is complete
And the Governor is putting away the last of the fleet

So we've notified paramedics and alerted all EMT's
That the Governor will be driving these SPMT's
But with a little bit of luck and an answer to a prayer
All will come away no worse for the wear

Then commuters will travel this great corridor
And the motors of these horseless carriages will roar
And they'll all be a smiling as they travel this course
But for me... I'll just stick to my ol' saddle horse
